Commissioners outline plan for initial $3.1 million ARP allocation

City disappointed with pledge for drinking water, flood mitigation

BY BOB DEMAREE

With Jefferson County scheduled to receive the first half of $6.2 million in American Rescue Plan funds later this year, the Commissioners outlined a draft of how that $3.1 million might be used at its meeting on Wednesday.

"We have a working draft plan," said Commissioner President David Bramer, adding the package is "working" because the Commissioners will also be discussing the proposal with the Jefferson County Council.

The biggest portion of the money is earmarked for the county's fire departments with $100,000 going to each of the 14 county fire departments (six in the City of Madison and eight in the county). The remainder would include $100,000 for the Emergency Management Agency, $100,000 for 911 services, $150,000 toward premium pay for the county's essential workers during the COVID pandemic, $500,000 for highway department infrastructure, $400,000 to match money for the Regional Development Authority, and $50,000 to assist organizations and festival that have been impacted by COVID-19.

The remaining $300,000 would be allocated to the City of Madison after Mayor Bob Courtney requested county support for a drinking water infrastructure project estimated to cost $15 million and a $425,000 Army Corps of Engineers (ACOE) comprehensive plan to evaluate causes of flooding and develop strategies for stormwater infrastructure to mitigate any possible flash flooding disasters in the future.

POP, MCS revise mask, social distance policies

BY BOB DEMAREE

Classes will begin as planned on Wednesday at Prince of Peace and Madison Consolidated schools, but revised guidelines related to COVID-19 will be required now that Jefferson County has returned to an "Orange' metric indicating medium to high community spread of the virus.

Shawe's COVID-19 plan establishes that when Jefferson County metrics are "Orange" or "Red" that masks are required inside of schools for all students in grades 3-12 when they cannot remain socially distanced. When metrics are "Blue" or "Yellow," masks will be optional inside the schools, although masks might be required in some settings in which social distancing (3 feet) is not possible.

Prince of Peace families are expected to screen their children and keep them home from school if they have a 100 degree or higher fever. Unvaccinated students will be asked to stay home or will be sent home if they exhibit a COVID-19 symptom, and will need a negative COVID test to return to classes.

When metrics are "Orange" or "Red," visitors entering Prince of Peace buildings will

Man sentenced to 40 years in meth-related death of infant

BY THE COURIER STAFF

A Jefferson County man on Wednesday was sentenced to 40 years in prison in the methamphetamine-related death of his infant son in July of 2018.

Deven G. Frisque

Deven G. Frisque, 34, Madison, was convicted in June of Level 1 felony neglect by a Jefferson County Circuit Court jury, a conviction that carries a 20- to 40-year prison sentence. The three-day trial culminated with the jury deliberating eight hours before issuing its verdict.

Prosecutor David R. Sutter asked the court for the maximum 40-year sentence and Senior Judge Richard Striegel granted that request in his sentencing order.

"Overall, we are pleased with the sentence issued in this case and feel it is proper given the circumstances," Sutter said. "This was a tragic case of neglect that ended in an infant fatality. These cases are never easy for law enforcement, first responders, dispatchers, our own staff and members of the jury and I, again, want to thank them for their work."

The baby's mother, Tara L. Savage, 26, had previously pleaded guilty to Level 1 felony neglect of a dependent resulting in death under a plea agreement with the prosecutor's office.

Courtney provides plans for rescue funds

BY BOB DEMAREE

Madison Mayor Bob Courtney this week outlined how the city plans to distribute the $2,677,888 million the City of Madison will receive from the American Rescue Plan Act to invest in the community.

Speaking at Tuesday's Redevelopment Commission meeting, Courtney listed four areas in which the city will utilize the first 50% of the money the city will receive this year.

Courtney said the bulk of the funds will go toward flood risk mitigation and planning in order to work with the Army Corps of Engineers (ACOE) to analyze flood hazard areas and then model the type of infrastructure improvements that would be needed in order to mitigate possible future flash floods like what occurred in Madison on June 18.

He said other uses of the initial money will be earmarked for recovery of the local tourism industry, premium pay for essential workers, and matching grants.

There are various areas in which grants can be matched, but Courtney specifically mentioned the Regional Economic Acceleration and Development Initiative (READI) program, and the ACOE planning assistance grant that also requires a match. Additionally, he said matching dollars will also be needed for grants the city might receive for a proposed drinking water infrastructure project.

In other business, Courtney discussed his strategy for several properties the city has acquired over the last few months.

Hanover OKs purchase of software for building, zoning

BY BOB DEMAREE

The Hanover council approved a contract with iWorQ Systems Thursday to purchase a software program for the town's Building and Zoning Department.

Hanover Building Inspector Rick Schnebelt said the program will provide for recording data related to nuisance violations, ordinances and permits to allow better documentation and tracking.

"It will be tracking everything and continue to track everything," said Schnebelt, who noted it's an easy-to-use program that will allow the town to efficiently organize and track all information within the Building and Zoning Department. The annual cost of the program will be $2,500 with an intital $1,675 set up fee.

In other business, the council:

• Held a public hearing for the Park Department's non-reverting fund. For many years, the Parks Department was inactive, but in the last year the program has again become active and generating money from donations, participation fees and concession stand earnings. The town council approved earmarking $44,500 for the fund from money generated through Park Department's activities.

• Officially named the town's Beautification Committee which council member Treva Shelton said includes representation from all parts of the community. The committee, which will likely have its first meeting in late August, includes Kaeli Black of November Street, Willie Liter of Hanover College, Lynn Maricle of Main Street, Bob Slade of Jackson Lane, and Cindy Thurman and Sandy Thurman, both of Thornton Road.

• Council member Kathi Scroggins proposed the establishment of a Go Green Committee to work toward creating energy efficiencies throughout the town. The town council agreed to work toward adopting a resolution to created the committee at a future meeting.

• Council president Kenny Garrett announced plans for a Party in the Park on Saturday, Oct. 2, with activities in both the afternoon and the evening.

Madison creates Public Arts Commission

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Madison City Council on Tuesday adopted an ordinance creating a Public Arts Commission but not before approving a couple of amendments giving the council some oversight on who serves on that five-member board and the procedures the Commission follows.

The amendments faced no opposition and are intended to basically ensure that the Arts Commission functions similar to other boards in the city. The mayor will appoint members to the Commission but they must then be approved by city council. The council must also approve all procedures adopted by the commission.

The Arts Commission will be tasked with integrating artworks into the community and assisting with beautification efforts led by the city. The group will also serve an advisory role to private property owners who wish to integrate artworks in the development or improvement of publicly accessible or visible private property.

The program will look to "commemorate the city's collective memory and history" and "cultural and ethnic diversity" while supporting programs for "tourism, culture exchange and goodwill" and "economic development and vitality." The members will also be tasked with creating and maintaining a public arts master plan.

Members will serve up to two three-year terms before having to step down for at least a year before being eligible to serve again. However, the initial appointment terms will be staggered to allow for continuity of membership with two one-year terms, two two-year terms and one three-year term.

Pets lost as fire destroys Madison mobile home

BY BOB DEMAREE

A Thursday night fire destroyed a mobile home in the Madison Estates in western Madison Township.

Madison Township fire chief Robert Black said the front portion of the structure, located in the 900 block of Northwood Drive, was engulfed in flames when firefighters arrived shortly after the blaze was reported at 10 p.m. Firefighters were able to prevent the fire from engulfing the back portion of the home but Black said the structure was a total loss.

"Mobile homes that take on that amount of heat are not repairable," he said.

Black said the occupant, Nancy Keller, was hospitalized at the time of the blaze and not home. However, a dog and four cats were inside the residence and three of the animals died.

Firefighters were able to retrieve an encased American flag that had been presented to Keller five years ago following the death her husband, Terry Keller, a US Army veteran and 40-year City of Madison employee.

Black said firefighters fought the fire about two hours and the cause remains under investigation.

Madison Township Fire Department was assisted by Hanover Township Fire Department and Ryker's Ridge Fire Department.

be required to wear masks. When metrics are "Blue" or "Yellow," masks will be recommended for visitors who enter the building. In both cases, joining students for lunch will not be permitted.

On Monday, Prince of Peace Schools will hold a new family orientation from 5:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. for new families of pre-Kindergarten through grade 12 at Shawe and Pope John. Back-to-school night activities will be from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. for all Shawe and Pope John students, who will be allowed to visit their lockers and classrooms, and meet their teachers from 6 p.m. to 7:15 p.m. Prince of Peace president Phil Kahn said everyone should remain masked while indoors, and spend limited time there, while dedicating more time outdoors and enjoying the scheduled cookout.

Madison Consolidated School updated its COVID-19 guidelines earlier this week to require masks inside school facilities for both vaccinated and unvaccinated individuals.

Additionally, Madison postposed all scheduled open houses. Registration of students will continue, but all parents and students must wear a mask when inside a MCS building. No visitors will be permitted inside MCS buildings until further notice, which includes community use of any school facilities.

At Southwestern, classes for the 2021-2022 school year began on Thursday. No changes have been made to the school corporation's COVID re-opening plan that was approved at the July school board meeting. In that plan, the school system "highly recommended" that masks be worn by students and staff in situations where social distancing is not possible.

"We have been acquiring property in strategic locations over the course of the last year," said Courtney, noting that some of the tracts have been acquired by the Redevelopment Commission and others by the City of Madison.

Courtney noted that any properties the city wants to develop or sell for development should be under the Redevelopment Commission's ownership. He said after consulting with legal counsel, the city would begin working toward transferring some of that property to the Redevelopment Commission "so we can vigorously pursue developing that property."

However, Courtney noted that not all of the property acquired by the city is intended for future development.

"Some of it is for tourism and place-making, and quality of life and blight elimination" without the intention of transferring ownership.

PLAN

The amount offered by the Commissioners included $200,000 for the drinking water project — much less than the $2.5 million the city had requested — and $100,000 for the ACOE comprehensive plan — $50,000 less than the $150,000 the city's request.

Courtney said the city was "grateful to the Commissioners for providing some level of support for our Clean Drinking Water and Flood Risk Mitigation Planning projects that impact much of Jefferson County" but he is disappointed with the amount the Commissioners are pledging toward drinking water infrastructure.

"This is long overdue, but it is a very expensive project," Courtney said, noting two-thirds of the county is affected by the City of Madison's drinking water system and, by statute, the city's costs for the project must be passed along to utility customers. "Every dollar we receive will reduce the rate to the water customer," he noted.

Courtney said the $200,000 pledged by the Commissioners for the water project "unfortunately is very disproportionate to the $10 million that the City of Madison pledged to the Jefferson County jail project. It is very clear that Congress intended ARP funds to be used to support clean drinking water infrastructure projects such as this due to the critical role that it plays in protecting public health. The City of Madison is working hard to identify multiple sources to defray the $15 million projected costs so that the consumer water rates will experience less of an increase. We have asked the Commissioners to reconsider their funding commitment for this project and ask the community to reach out to their commissioner for support."

In addition to seeking support from the county, the city is hopeful of receiving a $5 million State Water Infrastructure Fund (SWIF) grant from the Indiana Finance Authority. Courtney said a decision is expected later this month but the grant process is "very competitive."

The Rescue Fund allocation draft still must be finalized, and will be submitted to County Council. However, Bramer said he was not sure if that will be accomplished in time for Tuesday's County Council meeting.

In other business:

• Sara Minor, secretary of the Madison Lions Club, asked the Commissioners for support from the county's American Rescue Plan fund since that organization's fundraising has suffered during the COVID-19 pandemic. Minor said the organization raises $6,000 to $7,000 in a typical year which the Club then contributes to several organizations in the county including the Jefferson County Youth Shelter, Lide White Boys and Girls Club, Big Brothers Big Sisters and Camp Woodsmoke, which provides camping opportunities for children with special needs. The organization also provides vision screenings in county schools and is requesting the financial support in order to maintain past giving levels to those organizations.

• Approved purchase of a Bomaq compact paving roller at a cost of $83,000 from Southeastern Equipment Company, Indianapolis. The roller, used for asphalt compaction, will replace one that's non-working and preventing the county from doing chip and seal work.

• Approved a two-year software agreement with E-forms and onboarding used for the county's human resources at a cost of $6,871.

DEATH

Savage was sentenced to 24 years, all to be executed at the Indiana Department of Corrections.

The baby was discovered dead on the afternoon of July 15, 2018, after a neighbor awoke Savage when he knocked on the couple's apartment door. Savage told police she found the baby, whom she had placed on the sectional sofa to sleep, facedown and unresponsive. Frisque told officers the last saw his son alive was around 5 a.m. when he saw Savage giving the boy a bottle. He said he had taken Suboxone, a drug used to treat narcotic dependence, which knocks him out.

Both Savage and Frisque had methamphetamine in their systems and a toxicology report on the three-month-old baby revealed lethal levels of methamphetamine in his blood with the cause of death determined to be acute methamphetamine ingestion. Savage's 6-year-old daughter was also in the residence at the time of the death.

Sutter previously noted that the excellent work by law enforcement played a key role in securing the convictions. He thanked Indiana State Police Detective Pete Tressler, ISP Crime Scene Investigator Merritt Toomey, Madison Police Department Officer Josh Nolan, former MPD and current Jeffersonville officer Phillip Wimpee and Jefferson County Coroner Rodney Nay for their testimony during the trial.

The trial also featured testimony from Dr. Thomas Sozio, forensic pathologist, and Sheila Arnold with the Indiana State Department of Toxicology.

Frisque, who was also charged with Conspiracy and a Probation Violation, has been incarcerated since his Sept. 26, 2018 arrest. He has now been remanded to the Indiana Department of Corrections to complete his sentence.

Should You Downsize When You Retire

"Many retirees have discovered that downsizing is an expensive decision. Sometimes it makes sense to leave things alone." Stephen Dybwad

Layin' It on the Line

By Stephen Dybwad
Retirement Planning/
Wealth Management

If you plan to sell your current home and move to a smaller one after retirement, you may be in for a shock. While it's tempting to see "downsizing" as an easy way to lower costs in retirement, the new economic reality may make it much more difficult to realize those savings. Home values have gone up nearly 9% in the last year, making the effects of downsizing much less dramatic. In 2020, for example, homeowners aged 65-75 who downsized from an average home valued at $340,000 often ended up purchasing a smaller home costing around $250,000.

This small savings reflects both the tight housing inventory and fierce competition for smaller "starter" homes. With the current median home price in the US at over $312,00, downsizing in both cost and square footage may not be easy to achieve. Retirees seeking to downsize will find themselves competing with first-time homebuyers looking for lower-priced, smaller houses. Also, mortgage rates are ticking slowly upward, making purchasing a new home much more expensive.

Does downsizing make sense anymore?

Although moving to a smaller home seems a logical decision for many retirees and pre-retirees, you must do the math first. It's advisable to include your financial advisor or advisory team when you consider downsizing to ensure it makes sense in the long term.

- Calculate, and re-calculate. Add in all broker fees, increased property taxes, HOA dues, and other costs. If you are taking money from savings or retirement funds to cover the move, look at the long-term impact of those withdrawals on your retirement income.
- Don't forget there are many additional expenses associate with purchasing a home. If it has been some time since you last purchased a home, you may be neglecting to factor in closing costs, real estate agent fees, furnishings and upgrades, moving costs, and repairs.
- Consider the long-term implications if you take a lump sum from your retirement accounts to fund your home. Also, don't forget to include taxes. Taking an early distribution could also push you into a higher tax bracket, diminishing any savings you'll get.
- Is your new home in a place you want to be? You'll probably only downsize once in your life, so it's essential to choose a place where you'd be OK spending the rest of your life.
- Have you thought through what you'll need in a home as you age? Your retirement home should be able to accommodate the physical changes that often occur as a person ages. Your replacement home might need to include ramps, stairlifts, walk-in tubs, and other accessories designed to keep you or a loved one self-sufficient and mobile. A house that is too small may not have space to address special needs.
- If you move into a senior community, what additional costs will you incur? Will the HOA rules allow you to have a live-in caretaker if the need arises? Is the community located near public transportation, or will you have to drive more than usual?
- Can you keep up with landscape maintenance or will you have to hire someone to help you?
- Is your portfolio balanced to include safe money products, such as annuities and life insurance? These products can help you create predictable income to help cover home-related expenses.

Summing it up.

In the past, downsizing was an effective way for retirees to reduce their monthly expenditures significantly while retaining their independence. However, we currently have an unpredictable housing market made worse by a lack of inventory and speculation, along with inflation and near-zero interest rates. The savings from downsizing, then, are not as dramatic as they have been in previous years. Retirees should consider the long-term effects before deciding to leave their current homes.

Alzheimer's looming

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: My grandfather had severe Alzheimer's disease. Unfortunately, it lasted for a while.

He was fine before he hit 75. Occasionally, he would forget things, but it was not a big deal. As he aged, his memory got worse and his ability to forget things increased. By 80, he was bad. He didn't know who some of his kids were, and talking to him was painful at best. By 85, he was completely gone. He sang songs like a child. He knew nothing about his own life or his family. Mercifully, he died at 85.

His daughter, my mom, is now 65, and I'm worried she is showing signs of the disease.

Though my mom knows the name of the utensil you "stab food with" (how my grandfather described a fork at one point), she forgets things. She repeats herself. I find myself sitting and listening to the same stories.

I first detected a problem when we were having a Fourth of July barbecue and we sent my mom out to pick up burgers and buns and she came back with ice cream. We were all stunned and concerned. That's when I knew she needs help.

What makes things worse is that when I tell her she's told me a particular story before, she gets defensive. She has real trouble facing her own mortality. I know that she is relatively young and that there isn't a lot I can do, but I care and worry about her. Any thoughts on how I should handle this? — Forgotten Daughter

Dear Forgotten: You're wise to be proactive about this. Encourage your mom to set up a doctor's appointment today. The sooner you seek professional help the sooner the problem can be diagnosed. If she does in fact have Alzheimer's, early detection will allow you and your family more time to plan for the future. Additionally, there are some treatments that can temporarily lessen the symptoms. Visit the Alzheimer's Association website, at http://www.alz.org, for more information.

Put yourself first

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I have a friend who spent many years in an emotionally abusive relationship that seems similar to what "Sad Grandma" described. What I have seen with my friend's children is that they have learned to treat their mom the same way their father did.

They watched for years as she put his needs and demands first in all of their lives. By putting him first, she taught her own children to put her last.

My friend is now working very hard to change her relationship with her children, and I hope "Sad Grandma" can, too. Remember: When you always put others first, you teach them to put you last. — Fellow Mom

Dear Fellow Mom: Thank you for your letter. You bring up such an important point, which is that more is caught than taught. "The Gift," a book by Edith Eger, highlights this very important lesson.

Dear Annie: My aunt relocated to Florida from Illinois with her husband. When her sisters would come for a visit, she would make a "Whoopee List." It was a list of things to do with them while they were there, such as going to Disney World and other neat things!

Yes, we now live in a world that has changed greatly, but I try to remember to treat our guests like royalty, as my aunt did. I believe having good hospitality is even biblically based.

I'm the youngest of five. When I went to visit a couple of my brothers, they treated me the complete opposite of the way my aunt treated her sisters. I think one brother did not really want me there. I must say that I'm hesitant to ever visit them again.

I was very hurt by the way they treated me. And it is one of those lessons in life where we learn. I still do the polite things of sending birthday and Christmas cards, but the closeness is gone.

I have friends in Washington and Florida who have invited me, but I'm reluctant to even visit them. I think we all must make a note to treat visitors — even those who show up unexpectedly at our front door — kindly, politely and with genuine regard. We definitely know that when a family member or friend returns for another visit to our home, we did right with them on their previous visit.

I truly appreciate sharing this with you, and it helps me to write to you about this matter. It has been on my mind for years. — Visiting Family and Friends

Dear Visiting Family: Your letter highlights one of the most important rules of life: the golden rule, which is to treat others as you would want to be treated. Whether that applies to a guest in your house or to any other situation in your daily life, you will be much happier and relaxed if you practice this rule. If your brothers don't apply it, that's their problem, not yours.

Southwestern's Harmon named Donnelly winner

Scholarship recognizes players with Type 1 diabetes

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Former Southwestern tennis player Autumn Harmon, a 2021 graduate, has been named one of eight United States Tennis Association (USTA) Foundation regional winners of the Novo Nordisk Donnelly Scholarship awarded to an outstanding student-athlete tennis player with Type 1 diabetes.

Harmon, a standout student and athlete at Southwestern, was a team captain and helped lead the Rebels to conference and sectional championships while earning all-conference honors her senior season. She was 17-4 playing at No. 1 doubles with four different partners throughout the 2021 campaign.

The scholarship is named after two siblings who were collegiate tennis champions — Diane Donnelly Stone and Tracey Donnelly Maltby — while living with diabetes since childhood. Harmon also was diagnosed with Type 1 diabetes when she was five years old and has seen doctors at Cincinnati Children's Hospital ever since to manage her care.

"From the very beginning, her doctors stressed that Type 1 is not a disability to prevent her from being able to do anything she wanted," Autumn's dad, Tim Harmon, said. "With that in mind, at a very early age she took dance lessons and played T-ball, softball and basketball. In junior high she found her way to volleyball and tennis, both of which she played throughout high school at Southwestern, all while maintaining a 4.0+ GPA and working at various local part-time jobs after school."

The $5,000 scholarship, supported by global healthcare company Novo Nordisk, can be used for education, educational materials, and other related expenses at the college or university the student selects.

Harmon will attend Indiana University-Bloomington in the fall and pursue a degree in biochemistry with plans to go into the medical research field.

One of the top students in her senior class, she was previously named recipient of several local scholarships including the Dale McNeely Memorial Scholarship at Southwestern, but she had to wait until mid-July to find out about national scholarships like the Donnelly.

Calvert's attention to detail leads to 8th Region history

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

What started as a way to answer a few questions about the history of his school has turned into a near obsession for Travis Calvert, who has found himself digging deeper and deeper into high school basketball lore than he ever expected.

That attention to detail has led to a project that Calvert considers to be his masterpiece, an exhaustive statistical history off all current schools in Kentucky's Eighth Region, which includes both Carroll County and Trimble County high schools. Included is every postseason game each has played, their season records and every coach of each team and their record.

The project, which Calvert has printed and placed into binders along with digital copies, has already drawn the attention of several Eighth Region athletic directors and head coaches, many of whom don't have access to that history at their own schools. There has even been talk about publishing the material in book form.

While isn't ready to commit to publication just yet, he's more than happy to share the material with anybody who asks.

"This is information that not everybody has," Calvert said. "For some of these schools, these are forgotten records. I'm just happy to help."

It was that quest for information that drove Calvert to the project in the first place. A 1991 graduate of Trimble County High School and later Cumberland College, Calvert began working with Doug Oak, the Raiders' boys basketball coach in the late 1990s, as statistician. But more than just boxscores, Calvert grew more and more interested in the history of his school, particularly the most wins in school history and record against district and regional opponents.

To Calvert's chagrin, that information simply wasn't available anywhere at the school. So he set about compiling it.

"I started combing through any scorebooks I could find, I would look up old newspapers and then started heading to the library to find older newspapers," Calvert said. "There was a fire at the Trimble County Library quite a few years ago so they lost all of their records, so I would come over to Madison to look up issues."

Phoros by David Campbell

Travis Calvert with all the research he has gathered over the years on local high school basketball teams — on both sides of the Ohio River — from the KHSAA 8th Region in Kentucky and Jefferson and Switzerland Counties in Indiana.

The KHSAA 8th Region basketball History book Travis Calvert has complied over the past 20 years surrounded by his research of other teams in Jefferson and Switzerland Counties in Indiana.

About the same time, Calvert's life took him from one Kentucky school to two Indiana schools, first as an assistant girls basketball coach and golf coach at Southwestern and later as athletic director at Shawe. As he moved around, he expanded his search. He began compiling records on both Southwestern boys and girls teams, then he picked up Shawe. He then moved onto Switzerland County and also grabbed Madison along the way. Next came Carroll County.

Other than the four-year stint at Shawe, Calvert has worked on the project during his free time for nearly 20 years. He can't even guess at how many hours he has devoted to the project.

"When I was at Shawe I simply had no time. There was just way too much to do," Calvert said. "But for the other 15 years, I'd say I do quite a bit a week. Sometimes when I reach a stopping point or get stuck on something, I'll move onto a new school. I don't work on one at a time."

Eventually Calvert expanded his focus to the Eighth Region, eager to find out how schools like Oldham County, Gallatin County, Simon Kenton and Walton-Verona have fared in the state tournament. One by one, he knocked them out.

Calvert is quick to point out that he hasn't done this all alone. Whether it was newspaper reporters or other basketball fans, Calvert has, at times, been able to use research that has already been done. He's also attended hundreds of games interacting with coaches, athletic directors players and fans as a part-time sports broadcaster, sportswriter and statistician.

"There was a gentleman who passed away two years ago that had done a lot of work in the state, starting with the First Region on the western side," Calvert said. "I was able to fill in a lot of gaps but that helped quite a bit."

Along the way, Calvert has learned things he never expected to learn, like the championship history of his own school. Trimble County's boys basketball won the 31st District title in 1992 and Calvert spent much of his life under the impression that the win was the only district title in program history only to learn through his research that was wrong.

"I think the coolest thing that I found was that Trimble had won four district titles prior to World War II. I didn't know that, nobody knew that. There were no banners and it's not listed anywhere," Calvert said. "I think finding out about that, and how the girls went to the state tournament in 1928, was the two coolest things that I have found out."

Calvert is by no means finished. Records prior to 1920 are nearly impossible to find and the first year of Switzerland County's girls program in 1974-75 is woefully incomplete. And there are holes nearly everywhere, but considering the vast sizen and scope of the project, he is pleased.

"There are a few missing scores that I have, particularly in the early days, but it is for the most part complete," Calvert said. "There are a few schools where I have some missing games and that is the ones that I am tracking down."

Calvert noted that once this project is complete he still won't be finished. His records of the Indiana schools include every game they have ever played, both boys and girls, and he would like to do that with many of the Kentucky schools as well. He has already started on Gallatin County and is ready to start on another so if you have any records you feel could help, contact Travis at travelertc1973@gmail.com or on Twitter at @travelertc.

However, he does stress that this is a basketball-only project. He doesn't plan on expanding to different sports.

"I have people ask me all of the time if I'm going to do with this with football or baseball and I just shake my head," Calvert said with a smile. "Basketball is big enough; I don't need another sport. Besides, I'm a basketball guy."

Brohm adds former WKU coach to Purdue's staff

WEST LAFAYETTE — Purdue coach Jeff Brohm has hired former Western Kentucky coach David Elson and Mel Mills, a small-school defensive coordinator, as staff members.

Brohm made the announcement Wednesday as college football teams prepare to start practicing.

Scores continue to drop as Cubs place 5th at Seymour

Eder 3rd overall with a 76

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Madison's Keara Eder finished third overall and Cubs lowered their team score for the third day in a row by shooting a 401 to place fifth out of nine teams at the Seymour Invitational on Wednesday.

Keara Eder

Eder, a senior, shot a 76 — her highest round of the week — but she was still among the best scores in the tournament.

"I like the way we responded today after last night's loss to Jennings. I think the girls felt a little sting losing at home," Madison coach Jake Shockley said. "Keara's 76 was a little disappointing for her standards. I'll take a 76 all day long, but it's that attention to detail and those high standards that have gotten her where she is. She finished with a couple of bogeys and had a mental mistake in the back half of her round, but she was still able to get third place which is great."

Grace Bronkella followed Eder with a 93 while Gracie Gasaway scored a 106 and Lilly Fox carded a 126. Reagan Warren shot a non-scoring 131.

"Bronkella had a great bounce-back round after last night. She has a lot of potential to tap into. If she keeps working hard, she can continue to score pretty well," Shockley said. "Gracie, Reagan, and Lilly are not even close to hitting their stride and I think they will continue to get better as the season progresses."

Madison has added another tournament to its schedule and will compete in the Greensburg Invitational on Saturday. Monday's match at Henryville has been moved to Aug. 24. The Cubs' next match at home will be against Jeffersonville on Thursday, Aug. 12.

NOTICE OF REAL PROPERTY
TAX SALE
Jennings County Indiana
Beginning 10:00 AM Local Time,
August 30, 2021
Commissioners' Meeting Room

Jennings County

Pursuant to the laws of the Indiana General Assembly, notice is hereby given that the following described property is listed for sale for delinquent taxes and/or special assessments. The county auditor and county treasurer will apply on or after 08/13/2021 for a court judgment against the tracts or real property for an amount that is not less than the amount set out below and for an order to sell the tracts or real property at public auction to the highest bidder, subject to the right of redemption. Any defense to the application for judgment must be filed with the Jennings County Superior Court and served on the county auditor and treasurer before 08/13/2021. The court will set a date for a hearing at least seven (7) days before the advertised date of sale and the court will determine any defenses to the application for judgment at the hearing. The county auditor and the county treasurer are entitled to receive all pleadings, motions, petitions, and other filings related to the defense to the application for judgment.

Such sale will be held on 08/30/2021 at the Commissioners' Meeting Room and that sale will continue until all tracts and real property have been offered for sale. At the discretion of local officials, the tax sale may switch to an online format. If those measures are taking place, the public auction will be conducted as an electronic sale under IC 6-1.1-24-2(b)10 at www.zeusauction.com commencing on the same date / time listed above. All location updates will be posted at www.sriservices.com prior to the tax sale.

Property will not be sold for an amount which is less than the sum of:

(A) the delinquent taxes and special assessments on each tract or item of real property; and
(B) the taxes and special assessments on the real property that are due and payable in the year of the sale, whether or not they are delinquent; and
(C) all penalties due on the delinquencies, and
(D) an amount prescribed by the county auditor that equals the sum of:
(1) fifty dollars ($50) for postage and publication costs; and
(2) any other costs incurred by the county that are directly attributable to the tax sale; and
(E) any unpaid costs due under IC 6-1.1-24-2(c) from a prior tax sale.

No property listed below shall be sold if, at any time before the sale, the Total Amount for Judgment is paid in full. If the real property is sold in the tax sale, the amount required to redeem such property will be 110% of the minimum bid for which the tract or real property was offered at the time of sale, if redeemed not more than six (6) months after the date of sale, or 115% of the minimum bid for which the tract or real property was offered at the time of sale, if redeemed more than six (6) months after the date of sale, plus the amount by which the purchase price exceeds the minimum bid on the real property plus five percent (5%) per annum interest on the amount by which the purchase price exceeds the minimum bid on the property. All taxes and special assessments upon the property paid by the purchaser subsequent to the sale, plus five percent (5%) per annum interest on those taxes and special assessments, will also be required to be paid to redeem such property.

In addition, IC 6-1.1-25-2 (e) states the total amount required for redemption may include the following costs incurred and paid by the purchaser or the purchaser's assignee or the county before redemption: (1) The attorney's fees and cost of giving notice under IC 6-1.1-25-4.5; (2) The costs of title search or examining and update the abstract of title for the tract or item of real property. The period of redemption shall expire on Tuesday, August 30, 2022 for certificates sold in the tax sale. For certificates struck to the county, the period of redemption may expire Tuesday, December 28, 2021.

If the tract or item of real property is sold for an amount more than the minimum bid and the property is not redeemed, the owner of record of the property who is divested of ownership at the time the tax deed is issued may have a right to the tax sale surplus.

The Auditor and Treasurer specifically reserve the right to withhold from the sale any parcel which has been listed in error, or which otherwise becomes ineligible for sale either prior to 08/30/2021 or during the duration of the sale.

This notice of real property tax sale, and the tax sale itself are undertaken and will be conducted pursuant to the requirements of the laws of the State of Indiana which regulate the sale of land for delinquent taxes, pursuant to I.C. 6-1.1-24-1 et seq.

The County does not warrant the accuracy of the street address or common description of the property, and a misstatement in the key number or street address does not invalidate an otherwise valid sale.

Minimum bid amounts are prescribed by law and are subject to change prior to the auction date.

Pursuant to IC 6-1.1-24-3(e), property descriptions may be omitted for properties appearing on the certified list in consecutive years. A complete property list may be obtained at www.sriservices.com or in an alternative form upon request.
